GENERAL FISH CURE
This food cure will preserve fresh fish for several months. It is made by mixing one part of salt with three parts of sugar. The fish should be cleaned and cut into small pieces. Then the salt and sugar mixture should be rubbed all over the fish. The fish should then be packed in a jar and covered with the mixture. The jar should be sealed and stored in a cool place.

ICE CREAM
Our best ice cream is made with three level tablespoons of salt, one level tablespoon of sugar, and one level teaspoon of vanilla. The salt and sugar should be mixed together and then the vanilla should be added. The mixture should then be used to make ice cream.

DOGS IN DEFENSE OF DOG

Toronto Newspaper Man Vigorously
Condemns Billy Proposal That
They Be Killed Off in Wartime.

A wrathful correspondent of the Mail and Empire suggests that dogs ought to be killed off in wartime or else such a stiff tax imposed upon their owners as greatly to reduce the dog population. Similar views have been expressed since the war in England. Only the other day Lord Claud Hamilton said that pet dogs are a nuisance and that if he had his way he would "slaughter all the Pekingese dogs in the country and have them made into meat pies." Not long ago Punch presented a picture of a tough-looking citizen grooming an equally tough-looking bull terrier, while a curate addressed him as follows: "Don't you think, my good man, that in wartime you would be better employed in keeping a useful animal, a pig, for instance?" "Yus," growled the dog fancier, "and a nice fool I'd look gain' rattin' with a pig." Proposals to destroy dogs are founded rather on personal prejudice or ignorance than on a consideration of the advantage to be gained by their extermination. The assertion that they consume much food that might better be converted to human use is not justified. As a rule dogs live on table scraps and odds and ends of food which would otherwise be wasted. As for the Hamilton suggestion about making Pekes into meat pies, it is probable that all the Pekes in the British Isles would not provide a single enjoyable meal for one battalion.

It is true that dogs frequently kill sheep, but they also kill cats and rats and thus help to square the account. In thousands of farmhouses they constitute an invaluable guard for the women folk. They even do such chores as driving up the cows, churning the milk, fetching and carrying and performing other services that make amends for the undeniable fact that they get their hair on the furniture and come into the kitchen with muddy paws. At the front they are doing war work of undeniable value. In Belgium they are beasts of burden. They carry messages from the trenches to headquarters in the rear. They guard against enemy raids; they locate the wounded lying in No Man's Land, and are a real pal to many thousands of homesick soldiers. A proposal to abolish dogs is about as sensible as a proposal to abolish nephews, and has about as much chance of succeeding.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Dear Santa Claus: There are three sisters and three brothers of us. We want you to be sure and come to see us. We girls love dollies and carts and candy, but the boys are wheel stuck; they also want some things to make a noise like drums, horns and fireworks. They are real live boys and keep things jumping around here. Don't forget the little boys, and girls that have no mamma and papa. We are sending one dollar to help send them something nice. Wishing you and all a merry Christmas and a glad and joyous New Year
THE LITTLE LIGGINS.

Dear Santa Claus: I am a sweet little girl, 5 years old. Please bring me a big tea set, little table, two little chairs, a small blackboard, so I can learn to write, lots of goodies and a horn. Your little girl
RUTH STATHAM.
Cobb, Ga.

You will find inclosed 25 cents for the poor children.

Dear Santa Claus: Please bring me a cowboy suit, pistol, cape, new goat wagon. I have a nice goat and harness, but my wagon is about worn out; some fruit and candy, and anything else nice for a ten-year-old (good) boy. Thanking you very much I am your friend
ROBERT C. PHYSIOC.

Dear Santa Claus: I am a little girl 7 years old. I like to go to school and learn my lessons. Please bring me a willow doll carriage, a doll, some nuts, fruit and candy and anything else nice for little girls. Wishing you and Mrs. Santa a merry Xmas, I am your little friend
LOUISE DUNAWAY.

My Dear Santa Claus: I will try to write you a few lines to let you hear from me. I am well and getting along fine and hope you are, too. I wish I could see your jolly old face, Santa Claus. I want you to bring me a big doll and a cradle and a carriage and some fruits and nuts. So good-bye. From your little girl
LETHIA POWELL.

Dear Old Santa: I want you to please bring me that kuple doll that has the flowered ribbon around her body and some pretty hair ribbon to wear and some handkerchiefs, doll furniture, a book that like to read, and all kinds of fireworks to shoot. I will leave some oranges and cake on the mantlepiece. I will inclose 25 cents for the Empty Stocking Fund. Do not forget the poor children over in France. From your friend
ELIZABETH ANDREWS.
